

Message from Mr. Martinson

It was a sea of green in school today. Once we have counted up the coins, we will let you know how much we have to donate to Macmillan. Thank you for your efforts.

The next special day is our census day, Thursday 6th October, where we are encouraging all the children (and adults) to wear clothes that make them happy. If it is a PE day, please ensure that they're in sensible clothes. PE clothes can still make you happy and be practical. Children will also have a special lunch on that day, chicken nuggets, chips, carrot and cucumber batons, doughnut and a carton of drink in a take away bag. We may even get some small toys to give out :-).

My assemblies this week have all been about perseverance and not making excuses. We have also been singing Cauliflowers Fluffy and Harvest Samba ready to take the roof off of the church in a couple of weeks time. Please feel free to practice these at home, here are the links.

As part of working in the Trust with the other two schools, we have been in classes looking at morning routines, books and lessons. I had the pleasure of seeing some amazing writing in year 2 today and those children got one of my special gold stickers. Well done!

Have a wonderful weekend.
